

Paul preaching at Athens

Brief description: Cartoon depicting Paul preaching at Athens, by Henry Holiday

A cartoon is a working drawing which is the same scale as the final stained glass panel. This cartoon, designed by Henry Holiday for Powell & Sons, shows Paul preaching at Athens. Paul is shown standing on a plinth whilst a crowd look on thoughtfully. Fluted columns are suggestive of the Greek architecture of Athens. The lead lines are indicated by thick black lines. Parts of the drawing are coloured with a yellow wash and these parts indicate which pieces of glass should be painted with silver stain. Parts of garments are also drawn with detailed patterning to indicate to the glass painter how the glass should be painted. Other markings indicate painted treatment and colour of the glass to be used.

Object type: cartoon

Number of objects: 1

Production date: 1

Production period: 19th century, late

Designer: Henry Holiday

Manufacturer: Powell & Sons

Dimensions: Height: 801mm, Width: 647mm

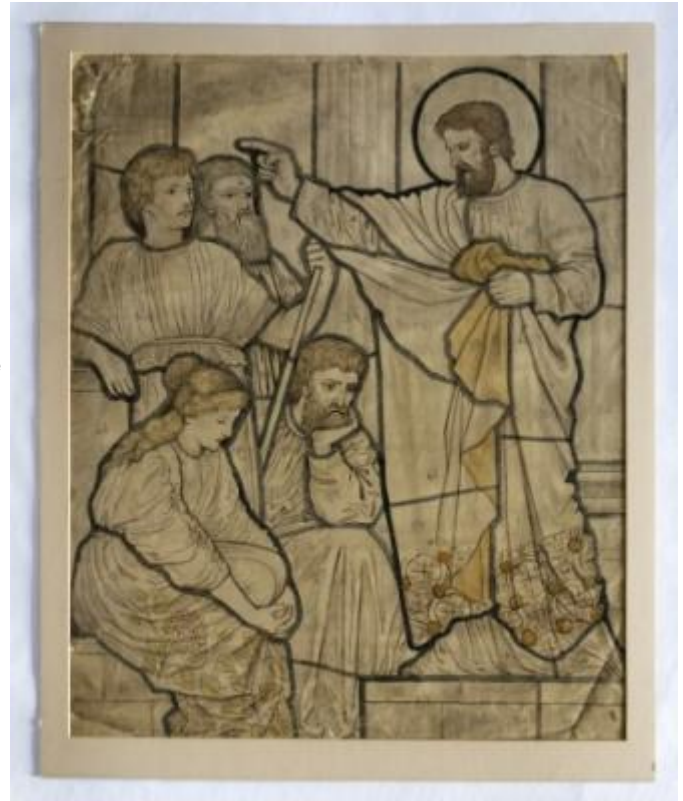

Inscription: Studio mark bottom of drawing James Powell & Sons

Acquisition: gift 11.9.2022

Acquisition source: Hadley, Joan

Accession number: ELYGM:2022.8.4

Permalink: <https://stainedglassmuseum.com/object/ELYGM:2022.8.4>

Related objects

ELYGM:2022.8.1

ELYGM:2022.8.2

ELYGM:2022.8.3

ELYGM:2022.8.5

Paul preaching at Athens

