

Study Tour – Leicestershire

Sunday 27 - Wednesday 30 April 2025

Programme

From the vibrant county towns to picturesque villages dotted across the county, there is much to be enjoyed in Leicestershire. Across three days we will explore a variety of stained glass in situ including rare early medieval French glass, examples of the glittering windows of Arts and Crafts artists Theodora Salusbury, Douglas Strachan, and Veronica Whall, modern glass by Patrick Reyntiens and contemporary windows by Tom Denny, Derek Hunt (whose studio we will also visit) and Helen Whittaker, to name just a few.

Fitness: You will need to be fit enough to get on and off a coach and undertake some walking, no more than 500m.

Dates

Registration will start at 5pm on Sunday 27 April 2025, followed by an introductory talk and group dinner. Site visits will take place Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday by coach, finishing at 5pm on Wednesday 30 April 2025.

Travel

Leicester is easily accessible by train from various parts of the country with connections to London and the North, the Midlands and East Anglia. Our accommodation at College Court Hotel is less than 2 miles from the train station on a direct bus route. Taxis are readily available from the station too. Alternatively, car parking is free and plentiful at our accommodation.

Accommodation

Accommodation packages include three nights' accommodation, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Extra nights on Saturday or Wednesday can be booked at an additional cost. We will stay at the College Court Hotel, run by the University of Leicester. The hotel benefits from modern facilities, including Wi-Fi throughout and free onsite parking, yet is surrounded by the tranquillity within its four acres of landscaped gardens.

Guides

Our principal guides will be Jasmine Allen (Director and Curator), with additional guiding from Leicestershire locals.
